ACTS PASSED BY THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF INDIA

FROM THEIR COMMENCEMENT IN 1834

TO

THE END OF THE YEAR 1849.

By JAMES SMALL,

AUTHOR OF "MERCANTILE TABLES," ETC.

CALCUTTA:

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED FOR THE COMPILER BY J. THOMAS, AT THE BAPTIST MISSION PRESS; AND SOLD AT THE EXCHANGE HALL.

1851.

TO

ROBERT MUIRHEID REDDIE, ESQUIRE,

Sheriff of Calcutta,

THIS WORK IS INSCRIBED,

WITH THE GREATEST RESPECT, ESTEEM AND REGARD,

HIS OBLIGED AND SINCERE FRIEND,

JAMES SMALL.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

It has been the Compiler's aim to shun verbosity on the one hand, and obscurity of diction the other; to make his references as clear as possible, consistently with the ancillary nature of th work; and, whilst omitting nothing likely to be useful, to avoid running into the opposite extreme, by encumbering his pages with needless matter.

The general arrangement, it will be seen, is threefold—first, alphabetical, which is paramount; second, territorial; and third, chronological. The territorial arrangement is under four heads; (1st) references to enactments, whose application is not restricted to one or to two Presidencies, but general; (2nd) references to enactments which apply to the whole or a part of the Bengal Presidency and its dependencies only; and (3rd and 4th) those which affect in like manner the Presidencies of Madras and Bombay respectively. All the references throughout the Index have their general or their local application distinguished by the initial syllable, printed in a different type, and placed on the left of the year column. The chronological succession requires no explanation;—it is of course subordinate to the exigencies of the alphabetical and territorial arrangements.

In all instances where it has appeared necessary, the enactments applicable to cases governed by English Law, or which do not affect Mofussil Law, have been distinguished by the letters [R. C.], signifying Royal Courts; and those which bear the said mark must be understood as having reference to Supreme Courts, or to functionaries having sway within the local jurisdiction of Supreme Courts —such as Justices of the Peace, Sheriffs and Coroners.

Grammatical construction in some cases separates two or more Sections of the same Act, referring to one and the same object, by bringing one or more of them under the plural title, whilst the others more conveniently range themselves under the singular title.

When several consecutive references to one and the same Act occur under one title, it has not been deemed necessary to specify under every one of them the local application of the enactment, farther than the Presidency to which it is confined.

In the rare instances in which the word ditto is used, the extent of its application is not susceptible of doubt. The Compiler has been led to observe extreme circumspection on this point, from remarking the impenetrable obscurity which attends the profuse employment of the word, in certain compilations of a kind analogous to the present. The economy of space thereby attained, by no means compensates the inquirer for the perspicuity which is lost.

AN INDEX TO THE REGULATIONS for the whole of the Territories under the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal, from 1828 to 1834. Price eight rupees.

 The above is in succession to the late Mr. Dale's Index, which extends from 17 1827, a thus the two together form a complete Index to the whole of the Bengal Code.

"There are few of those who are connected with the Courts of Civil Justice, either as "officers, pleaders or suitors, who have not benefited by the copious Index of the Regulations "was compiled and published by Mr. Dale, about twenty years ago. That work supplied an accu "and ready reference to seven folio volumes of Legislation, and abridged in no small degree the labo "of those who had occasion to consult them. But it extended only to the year 1827. The autho "who was one of the brightest ornaments of the Civil Service, and who, had he lived, would have risen "to the highest honors within its reach, was cut off, prematurely, in 1830. The want of a continuation "of his work, which should embrace the enactments of subsequent years, on the plan of his Index, has "long been felt, and we have now the pleasure of knowing that it is about to be supplied. Mr. James "Small, who is advantageously known to the commercial community by his useful "Mercantile Tables," "has undertaken to carry on the Index and bring it down to the present year. The First portion of "this work has now been sent us; it embraces all the Regulations, passed by the Governor General in "Council for the Bengal Presidency. The Second portion will comprise the enactments passed by the "Legislative Council of India for all the territories under the Government of the Hon. Company. The "work is one to which the ordinary rules of criticism cannot apply. Its value depends entirely on the "accuracy and fulness of its abstracts, and the clearness of its classification. If it enables the judicial "enquirer at once to ascertain in what Regulation, any provision he may be in search of, is to be found, "its value and importance are at once established. We have examined it by this test, and find that "is every thing that could be desired, and that it will at once direct the reader to the specific Regu "tion, and Section, and Clause, he requires. Those who have occasion to consult the laws of "Supreme Government, will find it afford them the most valuable assistance, and we can, therefc "confidently recommend it to their patronage. Indeed, we may even go farther, and assert, that wi "out the aid of an Index like the present, the mass of laws passed within the last twenty years, mus "comparatively useless—unless each man has leisure to form such an Index for himself."—Fr India, 22nd March, 1849.
